

CNP Assurances has been ranked among the Top 15 SBF 120 companies for female representation on governing bodies in 2020

At the eighth awards ceremony, held on 25 October 2021, Elisabeth Moreno, French Minister for Gender Equality, Diversity and Equal Opportunities, recognised the long-term commitment shown by CNP Assurances to gender diversity. CNP Assurances took 11th place in the 2020 ranking of female representation on governing bodies of SBF 120 companies, drawn up by the firm ConvictionsRH.

As a responsible insurer whose purpose is particularly to promote an inclusive and sustainable society, CNP Assurances has gender parity on its governance bodies.

Stéphane Pallez is Chairwoman of the Audit and Risks Committee and Rose-Marie Van Lerberghe chairs the Remuneration and Appointments Committee.

The four women (out of a total of 11 members) on the Executive Committee (corresponding to 36% female representation) all hold strategic roles for the Group, and two of them lead business units.

CNP Assurances is also recognised for the fact that 39% of its Top 100 senior executives are women.

In 2020, for the third consecutive year, the Group also obtained a score of 99/100 for equal pay for men and women, confirming the company's maturity in this area.
